

- Cadudol, Jean, sentenced to death, ii. 286.
- Caffarelli, General, observations of, i. 127; wounded at St. Jean d'Acre, 185; his death, ib. • his mission to the Pope, ii. 323.
- Cairo, revolt of, i. 159; Napoleon's letter to the Divan of, 207.
- Calder, Admiral, his engagement with the French squadron, ii. 351.
- Caldiero, battle of, ii. 404.
- Carnabace'res, M. (Duke of Parma), overtures made to, by General Bonaparte, i. 239; epitome of life, 240, n.; Second Consul, 261, n.; appointed Minister of Justice, 263; report of, 264; his remark respecting Stey&s, 266, n.; his visits to Napoleon, 267; Bonaparte's remark to, 289; his procession to the Tuileries, 338; anecdotes of, ii. 42, n.; opposes the Due d'Engnieu's arrest, 223; anxious for Bonaparte to be made Emperor, 261; speech of, 262, 264; congratulates the Empress Josephine, 264; created Duke of Parma, iii. 28; advises peace, 272; named Minister of Justice, iv. 102; under the Bourbons, 291.
- Cambis, Madame de, accident of, i. 123, n.
- Cambridge, Duke of, caricatures of, ii. 194.
- Cambronne, Gen., his fidelity to Napoleon, iv. 199.
- Cameron, Colonel, killed at the battle of Quatre Bras, iv. 153.
- Campaign of Italy*, dictated by Napoleon, iv. 314.
- Campaign of Egypt*, iv. 314.
- Campbell, Colonel Neil, accompanies Napoleon to Elba, iv. 19; his letter to Lord Castlereagh, ib., n.; his conversation with Napoleon, 53; censured for suffering Napoleon to escape, 57, n.
- Campo-Formio, treaty of, consequences of, i. 99.
- Canning, Mr., his question to Lord Whit-worth, ii. 178, n.; conducts a treaty of peace between Turkey and Russia, iii. 260, n.
- Canova, M., his statue of Bonaparte, ii. 109.
- Caprara, Cardinal, sent from the Pope to Napoleon, ii. 51; introduces Prince Bor-gheze to Bonaparte, 197; departs from Paris, iii. 125.
- Carbon, M., execution of, ii. 29.
- Carbonnet, M., the friend of General Mo-reau, ii. 101, 214; arrested, 217; his imprisonment, 250.
- Carnot, Napoleon's letter to him, i. 46; obliged to yield to Bonaparte's firmness, 68; his letter to Bonaparte, 78; one of the Directory, 81;

 disappearance of,
 83; appointed War
 Minister, 381;
 reasons for his appointment, ib.,
n.; last quarter-
 century of his career, iv. 295.
 Caroline (Bonaparte),
 Queen of Naples,
 her intimacy with General Murat, i.
 322; married to him,
 325; accompanies
 the Empress Maria
 Louisa to Paris, iii.
 191; her career, iv.
 256.
 Carra St. Cyr, M.,
 joins Massena, iii. 5; Governor of Hamburg, 276;
 retreats from Hamburg, ib.
 Casabianca, Captain
 of the Orient,
 wound-ed, i. 147.
 Castiglione, Duke of,
 see Augereau.
 Castlereagh, Lord, complies with Napoleon's request,
 iii. 371.
 Castres, Sabatier de, transferred to the Military College at Paris, i. 10.
 Cathcart, Lord, commands the expedition against Copenhagen, iii. 91;
 English representative at the Congress of Chatillon, 328.
 Cattaro, Benches du,
 vicissitudes of, iii.
 44, ?i.
 Caulaincourt, General (Duke of Vicenza), his remarks respecting Madame Bonaparte,
 i. 225; intercedes
 for Prince Hatz-feld,
 iii. 48, n.; sent Ambassador to Russia, 94; sent to the headquarters of the Allies, 304;
 appointed Minister
 for Foreign Affairs, 307;
 his conversation with
 M. Bourrienne, 313;
 anecdote of, 315;
 sent to treat for an armistice, 325, 328;
 protracts the negotiations, 331; his declaration to the Allies, 332; presents
 a counter project,
 333; his letter to M.
 Talleyrand, 334;
 sent by Napoleon to
 the Emperor Alexander, 362; his reception, ib.;
 returns to Paris, ib.;
 despairs of Napoleon's return, 366, 7i.; his conversation with him, 372; career
 after Napoleon's fall, iv. 292.
 Clavier, M., reply of, ii.
 289.
 Ce>accbi, M., conspiracy of, ii. 19, 20.
 Ceylon, vicissitudes
 of, ii. 63, n.
 Chaban, Comte de,
 member of the Government Committee in Hamburg, iii. 248.
 Chaboulon, M.
 Fleury de, his narrative of the battle of Waterloo,
 iv. 189; his account
 of Napoleon's surrender to Captain Mait-land,
 212, n.
 Chabrol, M. de, resumes the Prefecture of the Seine, iv. 231.
 Chaise, M. de la, Prefect of Arras, his flattering address
 to Napoleon, ii.
 318.
 Chamans, Marie,
 epitome of life, i.
 246, n.
 Chambon, Dudont
 de, one of Napoleon's
 comrades, i. 4.